I cut and paste the preface NRC May 2014 paragraph and put it in appendix F. Changes are in track changes.

We can probably swamp pages out for the rest of appendix F (about 7 pages) with Maureen.

OK. I don't think we have a version control issue, I think it was just a human error. I thought I had included it. The tox review Samantha sent on 9/7 had the May 2014 paragraph, but the version I sent back on 9/12 had her other changes, but was missing that edit. I have made the change to the preface (in track changes) to our most recent version. I spot checked it for the updated lit search, new studies, and hazard language. Feel free to double check. Sorry for the angst.

-K

PS. I can go back through my Supp Info versions...but I don't remember getting new May 2014 language for this section...

OK. I found the May 2014 language in the revised version from Samantha on 9/7, but I did not see revised language noting the May 2014 report in the Supp Info track changes sent from Sam a few days later. I can compare her other track changes from the tox review with the current draft and see if there were any other things that might have been left out.

I went through the documents quickly and noted the following:

Charge: looks fine

Ex. 5 Deliberative Process (DP)

Let's touch base before sending to Maureen...

It is a PDF issue...I have seen the dashed lines before when tables with hidden cells (our alternative to tested table) are taken from word to PDF.

I have never seen the issue with the BMD model graphs, but it is not in the word version.

I looked through all three documents and found a few PDF issues.
Tox review: issues with some lines in Tables 1-11 to 1-13 (starting on p-55)
Supp info: the BMD model graphs in Figures E-1 to E-7 are messed up

I am going to page through to look for issues, can you guys do the same (or Kathleen rather cause I think Jamie is out tomorrow). Just need to see if anything go wonky...let me know.

Maureen,
Samantha asked me to check in with you for an estimate on when you think the BaP docs will be ready...trying to gauge when we will post them.

Thanks,
Jamie
